Game Flow 30

Forgotten for centuries, ancient catacombs are rediscovered beneath the cities of Renaissance Italy. Many rush to explore them, searching for ancient treasures and lost knowledge, but no one imagines what lies hidden in the dark tunnels of these mysterious places. Among the ancient rooms and maze-like corridors, an evil force has awakened, and with it the cadaverous guardians of these cursed places. It will be your task to face this new enemy before its damned forces emerge from the darkness of the catacombs to bring their curse to those who live on the surface!

How to use this Expansion

This Expansion adds a Side Campaign that can be incorporated into any Main Campaign of Nova Aetas Renaissance from the Core Game or the Vesuvius Expansion. This Side Campaign consists of 2 Side Missions and 1 Hunt Mission that must be played in sequence, starting with Mission CT1 - "Into Darkness." If you decide to use the Catacombs Expansion in your Campaign, add the Event Card found in this box to the deck of Event Cards you are using in your Campaign. If you draw the "Into the Unknown" Event Card during a Travel Phase, you may choose to undertake it as a normal Side Mission. Once you have undertaken this Side Campaign, you must play the 3 Side Missions that comprise it consecutively, starting with Mission CT1 - "Into Darkness."

In addition, this expansion adds Expedition mode, which allows you to play new Side Misions to explore randomly generated Catacombs during a main campaign in the Core Game or Vesuvius Expansion. Finally, Catacombs adds a new Hero that can be played in any Campaign.

Quitting the Side Campaign

At the end of Missions CT1 and CT2 - "Backfire" you may wish to quit the Side Campaign. In this case, return the "Into the Unknown" Event Card to the Event Card deck and play the next Campaign Mission. You can resume the Side Campaign, but if you have not completed it previously, you will have to play it from the beginning, starting with Mission CT1 - "Into Darkness."

Hunt Mission

The CT3 Mission - "The Thing on the Threshold" of this Side Campaign is a Hunt Mission and follows all the rules for this type of Mission, as described in the Nova Aetas Renaissance Rulebook

Some Abomination Prey Cards may feature the 👁 symbol. Effects preceded by the 👁 symbol activate only if the Attack Target is "In the Dark" (Roman, no itals) and are always applied before the target Hero's Defense Test. Otherwise, the Effect is ignored and only the attack traits without the 👁 symbol are applied.

Completing the Side Campaign

After playing Mission CT3 - "The Thing on the Threshold," regardless of the outcome, follow the normal rules to resume the Nova Aetas Renaissance Campaign. If you want to face the Abomination in the future, you must play Mission CT3 exclusively without replaying the entire Side Campaign. Mark the "Abomination" Hunt among those available on the Campaign Sheet.

New Rules

New Hero: Luca

An orphan raised on the streets, Luca learned to fend for himself by earning a living as a tomb raider, exploring ancient tombs to recover their treasures and sell them to wealthy benefactors. Fascinated by the classical world and driven by a desire for fortune and glory, he traveled throughout Renaissance Italy in search of lost relics and artifacts. Armed with ingenuity and courage, he is ready to venture into even the darkest depths of the Catacombs... but what secret does his legendary hat really conceal?

Relic Cards

Relic Cards are associated with the Bond Equipment Reliquary, which can be obtained by choosing the Advanced Class Relic Hunter. Thanks to this Equipment, during the Mission Setup phase, Luca chooses 2 of the 6 Relics available to be associated with the Reliquary Card. By using the Reliquary's action, Luca can use the effects of the Relic Cards associated with it and resolve the effects indicated on both cards. Please note that Luca MUST resolve both effects; he cannot decide to resolve only one of them. Each Relic Card indicates the number of Charges that the Relic has. The total number of Charges of the 2 Relics associated with the Reliquary represents the number of times the Reliquary can be used for that Mission. Place a number of Reliquary Charge Tokens on the Reliquary equal to the total number of Charges of the 2 Relics.

Archeology and the Discovery Die (⚂)

At the beginning of his Activation, the Archeologist may roll a ⚂ Discovery Die to gain the Find Tokens shown on its faces. There are 3 types of Find Token: Map, Shovel, and Amphora. These tokens are used by the Archeology rule, which allows Luca to enhance a Skill after using the ⧗ required to use it. Archeology can either add Effects to a Skill or replace its Effect with a new one; in the latter case, the Effect is preceded by "Instead of".

Trinket Tokens

These tokens can be gained by Luca (and in rare cases by other Heroes) in various ways. After performing a Test, Luca may discard a Trinket Token to increase the result of one of the dice used for the Test by 1.

You may discard multiple Tokens at the same time to increase the outcome of the chosen die by 1 for each Token discarded.

New Tiles

The new Catacombs tiles introduce greater variety and tactical depth during underground expeditions. Each tiles can come in different sizes to suit the complexity of the scenario or the type of environment represented, from small corridors to vast forgotten rooms.

Some tiles feature special squares, recognizable by their colored borders, which introduce unique rules and different game situations. All the new special squares are listed below.

Orange - Debris

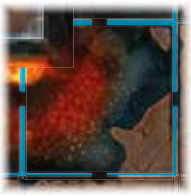

A Square containing Debris cannot be occupied by any Model and cannot be moved through, but it does not block Line of Sight.

Purple - Cursed Ground

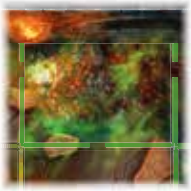

A Hero who moves or ends their Movement on this Square receives a Cursed Token.

Blue - Stagnant Water

A Hero moving into this Square must spend 1 ⧗ more than regular movement (refer to the Water Tile rules of the Core Game rulebook).

Green - Toxic Fumes

A Hero who ends their Movement on this Square gains a Poisoned Token.

Starting Tile

This dashboard represents the starting point for every Mission that takes place in the Catacombs.

New Psychostasia Card for Gregorio

This Expansion also includes a new Psychostasia card for Gregorio. If Gregorio takes part in any mission played in a Catacombs, replace the standard Psychostasia card with the one included in this Expansion. This will allow him to use the powers of Psychostasia, taking advantage of the new Reagents that can be recovered within the Catacombs.

New Scenic Elements

Brazier

The Brazier is a new 3D Scenic Element consisting of 2 parts: Brazier and Flame. Each time a Room is revealed, a Brazier without the Flame Scenic Element is placed. In this case, the Brazier is considered "Unlit" and has no special rules. When a Hero with an Active Torch uses the "Kindle" Action, they place the Flame Scenic Element on the Brazier, and from that moment on, the Brazier is considered Lit. A Room containing a Lit Brazier is considered Illuminated, as are all models inside it. The Brazier is a 3D Scenic Element that occupies 1 Square, with the Blocking and Interactive rules.

Doorways

Miniatures representing the doors that separate the Rooms and Corridors inside the Catacombs. Doorways can only be placed adjacent to specific areas called "Thresholds." Thresholds are indicated on the map shown on the Catacombs Cards and are graphically indicated on the Tiles. The Tiles within a Catacombs can only be connected to each other by the presence of a Doorway; there cannot be adjacent Tiles without a Doorway between them.

New Tokens

Terrorized

A Hero with the Terrorized Negative Status receives a -1 penalty to their Mind characteristic. An Enemy with the Terrorized Negative Status receives a -1 penalty to their Mind Defense characteristic. At the end of the Model Activation, discard this token.

Trap

Mission tokens used in the Catacombs Campaign. The rules for their use are listed directly on the Mission Cards that require them. These tokens occupy 1 Square, but it is possible to move and stop on them.

Defused

A token associated with the Treasure/ Formulae Card Defusing Tools. This token is placed on the Persistent Trap Corridor Tile and serves to remind players to ignore the effect of the Trap for the rest of the expedition inside the Catacombs.

Rope

At the beginning of an Expedition, this token must be placed on a Square of your choice on the Catacombs Starting Tile and serves to mark the entrance, and therefore also the exit, of the Catacombs. The Square where this token is located is considered empty.

Flame

(3 per color: yellow, red, blue).
The Flame Token is associated with 1 of the 3 Torch Cards included in the expansion. Flame Tokens are divided into groups of 3 based on color. They are placed on the Horologium and serve as a reminder to indicate the brightness of the Torch.

Temporal Charge

Token associated with the "Amulet of Lost Time" Reward Card, obtainable after completing a Catacombs Mission.

Trinket

Token associated with Luca's (Tomb Raider) Equipment Card: Bag.

Chasm / Sarcophagus / Pillar

Scenic elements used in the Catacombs Campaign. The rules and instructions on how to use these tokens are listed as Special Rules within the Mission Cards.

These Scenic Elements follow these rules:

Chasm

Blocking, Interactive

Sarcophagus

Blocking, Interactive

Pillar

Blocking

Map, Amphora, Shovel

These Tokens are associated with Luca's (Archeologist) Equipment Card: Travel Journal.

Broken Shield

This is a Negative Status Token that only applies to Enemies. An Enemy with the Shield Skill cannot use that Skill until Luca's next Activation, at which point the Token is discarded from the Enemy Card targeted by the Shieldbreaker trait

Reliquary Charge Token x5

These represent the charges on Luca's Reliquary Equipment Card. Each time Luca uses the Reliquary's Effect, discard 1 of these tokens from the card.

New Actions

1 ⧖ Kindle

Only if you are adjacent to a Brazier, place the Flame Scenic Element on the Brazier. From this moment on, the Brazier is "Lit" and the entire Room is considered Illuminated.

1 ⧖ Cross the Threshold

Only if you are adjacent to a Threshold Reveal the top card of the Catacombs Deck, take the associated tile and place it wherever you like. Then place your Hero on the new tile placed on the Battlefield. Follow the normal rules for the newly revealed Room or Corridor. Continue your Activation.

1 ⧖ Escape Rope

You can only use this Action to Exit the Catacombs if you are adjacent to or on a Rope Token. That Hero is no longer considered in play and cannot re-enter the Catacombs in any way.

Achievement Cards and Catacombs Missions

Achievement Cards

Achievement Cards are numbered from CT1 to CT6. These are Special Cards that can only be obtained after completing a Catacombs by either: Exiting the Catacombs or Partially Exiting the Catacombs. For more information, see the section "Choosing a Catacombs."

Catacombs Missions

There are 3 Catacombs Missions ("Lost in the Dark," "Guardian Spirit," "The Ritual"), and they can only be attempted after obtaining the 2 required Achievement Cards. These special Catacombs Missions are played normally, following the rules of Expeditions, but have Mission Requirements that, when met, trigger a special Event that requires additional Setup and provides new Victory and Defeat conditions. As with the Standard Missions in Nova Aetas Renaissance, depending on the outcome, players will read the corresponding paragraph.
If the party fails the Mission in any way, they can try again later. If they win the Mission, it will not be possible to replay an Expedition in the Catacombs of that size for the rest of the current Campaign. (For example, once the "Guardian Spirit" Mission is won, it will no longer be possible to undertake Expeditions in Medium-sized Catacombs).

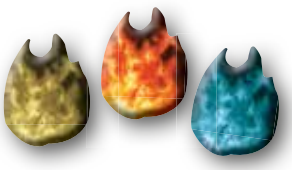

All the information you need to play these missions is listed starting on page 18.

New Cards

Torch Cards

This Expansion includes 3 different Torch cards in 3 colors: Red, Blue, and Yellow. Each card has 3 Flame Tokens of the same color associated with it. These are Equipment items that can be crafted by the Artisan by satisfying the reagent requirements of the corresponding Formulae card. The Torch is an Equipment with a ✋ Encumbrance. The Hero carrying the Torch, and any other Model within the Torch's range, is considered Illuminated
During their Activation, a Hero may decide to activate the Torch they have equipped. If they do so, the player places 3 Flame Tokens of the same color as their Torch in the Horologium Sector where their Hero's Activation Token is currently located. Each time the Horologium Hand reaches the sector containing the Flame Tokens again, 1 Flame Token must be discarded. This represents the effectiveness of the Torch, which decreases over time. In fact, based on the number of Flame Tokens present on the Horologium, the Torch's range of action will be as follows:

- 3 Flame Tokens: The Torch illuminates within 4 Squares of the Torch Bearer.
- 2 Flame Tokens: The Torch illuminates within 3 Squares of the Torch Bearer.
- 1 Flame Token: The Torch illuminates within 1 Square of the Torch Bearer.

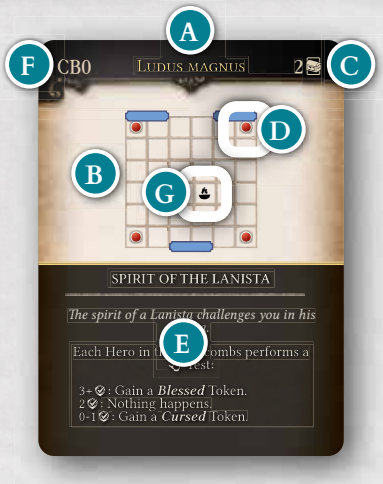

Catacombs Cards

Catacombs Cards can be of 3 types: Room Cards, Corridor Cards, or Event Cards. Together, these types form the Catacombs Deck, which is created according to the Expedition Chart (on page 19 of this rulebook).

Please note: Catacombs Cards and all the rules described below are not used in the 3 Missions that make up the Side Campaign. In those Missions, the rules for Rooms and Corridors are described directly on the Mission Cards.

Room Cards

- A Room Name.
- B Representation of the corresponding Tile.
- C The number of Treasure Cards that the rty draws when there is at least 1 Hero present and there are no more Enemies.
- D Deployment Points: Indicate where to place enemies generated by the Enemy Draft.
- E Special Rules.
- F Identification code, important for forming the Catacomb Deck according to the Expedition Chart.
- G Brazier.

The Room Card, like other Catacombs Cards, can be drawn when a Hero uses the Cross the Threshold Action.

- When a Room Card is drawn from the Catacombs Deck, the Tile corresponding to the identification code of the Room Card drawn must be taken from the Box.
- The player of that Hero chooses how to orient the Tile based on the Thresholds indicated on the Map on the Room Card and on the corresponding Tile.
- The Player places their Hero inside the room, in the Square closest to the Threshold connecting the previous Tile to the Tile of the newly drawn Room.
- The Enemy Draft is performed on the positions indicated on the Card.

Room Cards may have Special Rules that activate at specific times, so pay close attention to the text on the card before placing your Hero and Enemies. Each Room Card contains a Brazier, which is always unlit when the Room is revealed.

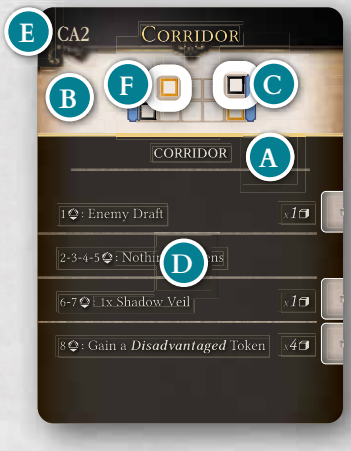

A Hero who has a Lit Torch and is adjacent to the Brazier can use the Kindle Action.

Some Room Cards show 1 or more spaces where you can place a Cube. These spaces indicate the number of times the room's Effect can be used. Each time you use the room's Effect, place a Cube on 1 of the available spaces. When all spaces are occupied by a Cube, the Effect cannot be used.

When a Room is Illuminated, all Enemies inside the Room, or who enter it afterwards, must turn their Enemy Card over to the Lit side.

Corridor Cards

- A Corridor Name.
- B Representation of the corresponding Tile.
- C Black Squares: indicate where to place Enemies generated by the Enemy Draft.
- D Shot in the Dark Chart.
- E Identification code, important for setting up the Catacombs Deck according to the Expedition Chart.
- F Colored Squares: Orange, Green, Blue, and Purple.

The Corridor Card, like other Catacombs Cards, can be drawn when a Hero uses the Cross the Threshold action. When a Corridor Card is drawn from the Catacombs Deck, the Board corresponding to the identification code of the Corridor Card drawn must be taken from the Box. Next, the player of that Hero chooses how to orient the Tile based on the Thresholds indicated on the Map on the Corridor Card and on the corresponding Tile. Finally, the Player places their Hero inside the Corridor, in the first Square closest to the Threshold that connects the previous Tile to the one of the Corridor just drawn. Unlike Room Cards, Corridor Cards don't include enemies, so no drafts are made when the tile is placed in the Game Area.

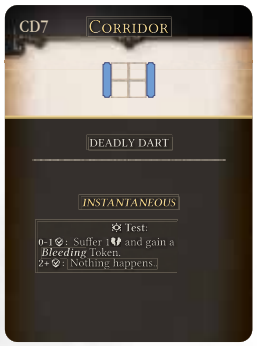

Corridor Cards always feature a table with results ranging from 1 to 8.

Each Hero who begins their Activation In the Dark in a Corridor must roll a die and compare the result to the chart on the corresponding Corridor Card. Enemies, on the other hand, never have to make Darkness Rolls. The consequences of a Darkness Roll on Corridors can vary, including an Enemy Draft. To avoid having to roll for the chart, simply be within range of a Torch when you begin your Activation in a corridor.

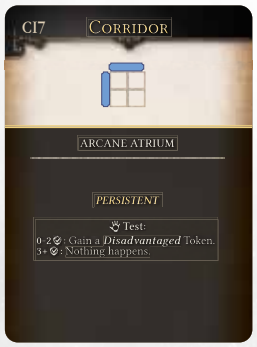

However, Corridor Effects are exhaustible. In fact, each time one of the effects is resolved, you must place a Cube in the corresponding space. When the number of Cubes indicated is present next to an Effect, that Effect cannot be applied even if it is the result of a Darkness Roll. In this case, do not apply any Corridor Card Effects.

Corridor Cards - Trap

These are special Corridor Cards that follow the normal rules for Corridor Cards with regard to the Cross the Threshold rule, but their cards do not feature charts for Darkness Roll results. Instead, they feature a mandatory Test that can lead to terrible consequences. Traps can be of 2 types: Instant or Persistent.

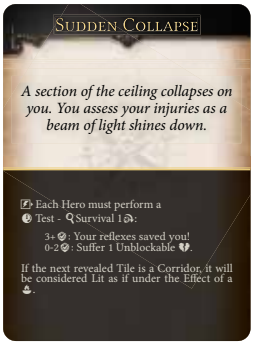

Instant Traps are triggered when they are revealed, and the Hero who performed the Cross the Threshold Action is the only one who must perform the Test. If the test is passed, nothing happens and the Trap loses its Effect; if the Test is failed, the consequences are applied, but even in this case, the Trap loses its Effect. From that moment on, it is considered a Corridor Tile where no Darkness Rolls are made.

Persistent Traps trigger when they are revealed, and the Hero who performed the Cross the Threshold Action, must perform the Test. If the Test is passed, nothing happens; if the Test is failed, the consequences are applied, but in either case, the Trap does not lose its Effect. From that moment on, every Hero who enters a Persistent Trap Tile must face the Room Test. The only way to eliminate the effects of a Persistent Trap is to successfully use Defusing tools.

Event Cards (E)

These are special Catacombs Cards that are shuffled into the Catacombs Deck. Event Cards present unexpected events that apply to the next Room or Corridor Card that is drawn. For this reason, once an Event Card is revealed after the Cross the Threshold action, Event Cards must continue to be revealed until a Room, Corridor, or Trap Card is revealed, and the effects of the Event Cards revealed up to that point must be applied. If multiple Event Cards are revealed before a Room or Corridor Card, the Event Cards must be applied in the order in which they were revealed.

Prey Cards: Stalking Shadow

These are the Activation Cards for the Stalking Shadow Prey Profile Card. These Prey Cards are used during the Medium Catacombs - "Guardian Spirit" Mission. The cards must be played in a specific order according to their numbering (from 1 to 6), so be careful not to mix them up when tackling the Mission. The Stalking Shadow Prey Cards follow all the normal rules applicable to Prey Cards found in the Core Game Rulebook.

Treasure Cards

There are 3 different types of Treasure Cards: Ancient Formulae Cards, Equipment Cards, and Reagent Cards. Together, they form the Treasure Deck, which must be placed in the Game Area before each Expedition to any type of Catacombs (S, M, or L).

Ancient Formulae Cards are special Treasure Cards that allow players to add a specific Formulae Card to the Deck of cards that the Artisan can consult during a Rest Phase.

Equipment Cards are Treasure Cards that allow players to add that specific equipment to the Campaign Sheet's Treasury.

Reagent Cards are Treasure Cards that, once obtained, allow Players to record new types of Reagents on the Campaign Sheet. Keep in mind that the new types of Reagents will be used to build Formulae obtained through Ancient Formulae.

Enemy Cards

The Enemy Cards in Catacombs all belong to the Undead faction, even though they retain the symbol of their original faction (Fauns, Rome, Venice, Mercenaries, or Myths). The Faction Symbol is used to determine which factions will make up the Draft deck, information that can be obtained from the City Card during the Rest Phase. In addition, the Enemy Cards in the expansion are double-sided: Dark side and Light side. The Dark side represents the basic form of the Enemy, while the Light side represents the weakened form due to the effect of light (caused by a Torch or Brazier). When an Enemy becomes Lit, for whatever reason, the Card must be turned over to the side with the symbol and the characteristics and attack shown on this side must be used immediately (even if it was In the D when the target of the attack was chosen). Whenever a Hero decides to target an Enemy, or when Enemies are activated, you must always check whether the Enemy is Lit or In the Dark and turn the card over accordingly.

Ancient Formulae Cards

Unlike the normal Formulae Cards in the base game, these will not be immediately available from the Craftsman. In fact, Ancient Formulae Cards can only be unlocked by the corresponding Treasure Cards. Furthermore, once unlocked, they must be crafted as usual using the Reagents required on the back of the Card. The Reagents required for Ancient Formulae Cards can only be obtained through Reagent Treasure Cards, which can be obtained as loot from an Expedition.

Reward Cards

Special equipment that can only be obtained after fulfilling the victory conditions of one of the Catacombs Missions: Lost in the Dark, Guardian Spirit, and The Ritual.

Prey Cards: Abomination

These are the Activation Cards for the Abomination Prey Profile Card. These Prey Cards are used during Mission CT3 - The Thing on the Threshold, which is playable within the Catacombs Side Campaign. The Cards must be played in a specific order according to their numbering, so be careful not to mix them up when you play the Mission for the first time.

Abomination Prey Cards add a new mechanic to take advantage of the Light and Dark rules in the Expansion. Prey Cards that have an Attack trait preceded by the 👁 symbol only add that trait if the Abomination is In the Dark and is not Illuminated. If the Abomination is within the light radius of a Torch, then that Trait must be ignored.

Abomination Prey Cards follow all the normal rules applicable to Prey Cards found in the Basic Game Rules.

Profile Cards

These 2 Profile Cards are used in the Medium and Large Catacombs Missions.
Specifically, the Stalking Shadow Profile Card is used in the Guardian Spirit Mission, while the Summoned Creature Profile Card is used in the The Ritual Mission.

New Traits

Shieldbreaker

If an Attack with this Trait is successful, the Enemy that suffered it gains a Broken Shield Token.

Terrorize

If an Attack with this Trait is successful, the model that suffered it gains a Terrorized Token.

New Skills

Elusive Shadow /
A model with this Skill can only be targeted by the indicated type of Attack if it is adjacent to the attacking model. For Heroes, this Skill is only provided by certain Equipment and is activated according to the rules of Reaction.
The Effect can be activated after the Hero has been targeted by an Enemy and lasts until the start of their next activation. If activating this Skill prevents the enemy from targeting that Hero, the Enemy may select another target according to their regular rules. After activating this Effect, the Hero gains the Reaction Token indicated on the Equipment card and flips it over to indicate that it can no longer be used until the end of the Mission.

Recovery X
At the start of this Model's activation, all other models in its Faction and with the Undead Skill within X, discard 1.

Expedition Mode

This game mode is the heart of the Catacombs Expansion. During the Setup Phase, if the City/Town Card where you last performed the Rest Phase features the Torch icon, you can decide to play an Expedition.
If the Location Card allows you to play an Expedition, it also indicates the size of the Catacombs available and the factions you may encounter within.
Catacombs Cards, boards, Treasure Cards, and Catacombs Event Cards allow you to enjoy a full-fledged Dungeon Crawler experience!

Small Catacombs are recommended for a party of Heroes with few or for those who want a shorter gaming experience, as the time limit set for this size of Catacombs is 3 Horologium hours.

Medium Catacombs are recommended for a party of Heroes with a fair number of or for those who want a slightly more challenging gaming experience. In this case, the time limit set for this size of Catacombs is 7 Horologium hours.

Large Catacombs are recommended for a party of Heroes with many or for those who want a challenging and unpredictable gaming experience. In fact, the time limit set for this size of Catacombs is 10 Horologium hours.

Choosing a Catacombs

Catacombs are characterized not only by their size, which represents the number of cards that make up the Catacombs Deck, but also by the number of Doorways associated with them. The Doorways are a very important counter within the Catacombs and represent its state of exploration. In fact, only when the last Doorway has been placed can the Catacombs be said to have been fully explored. Fully exploring a Catacombs is one of the fundamental prerequisites for meeting the Victory conditions and obtaining the greatest number of treasures from an Expedition to the Catacombs.

The Expedition has at its disposal:

- 4 Doorways for Small Catacombs
- 6 Doorways for Medium Catacombs
- 8 Doorways for Large Catacombs

The size of a Catacombs also determines the number and type of Enemies you may encounter during your Expedition, the number of Rooms you will face, the presence of Trap Corridor Cards, etc.
For each type of Catacombs (Small, Medium, and Large), there are 3 versions, which differ in terms of the Catacombs Cards that make up the deck and the type of Enemies, while sharing some characteristics such as the number of Catacombs Cards and the time limit.
The size of the Catacombs can be chosen by players from those available in the City or Village where they are located.
When a Catacombs is completed for the first time, in addition to the loot, the party gets a according to the size of the Completed Catacombs:

- When the party successfully completes the exploration of a Small Catacomb,s they gain CT01.
- When the party successfully completes the second exploration of a Small Catacombs, they gain CT02.
- When the party successfully completes the exploration of a Medium Catacombs, they gain CT03.
- When the party successfully completes the second exploration of a Medium Catacomb,s they gain CT04.
- When the party successfully completes the exploration of a Large Catacombs, they gain CT05.
- When the party successfully completes the second exploration of a Large Catacombs, they gain CT06.

As explained below, in the Catacombs Missions section, these special cards are a prerequisite for undertaking a Mission within a Catacombs. If you successfully complete 2 expeditions within the Small, Medium, or Large Catacombs, you gain the corresponding 2. These 2 allow you to undertake the mission linked to those explorations. For example, if you successfully explore 2 Small Catacombs, you can tackle the Mission: "Lost in the Dark."

How do you tackle Catacombs Missions?

Once you have gained the 2 Conquest cards for a type of Catacombs (in the previous example, CT01 and CT02 for the Small Catacombs), you will have access to the corresponding mission, which you can tackle from the third expedition onwards.

Catacombs Deck

To build the Catacombs Deck for the Expedition you are about to undertake, follow the instructions in the table below. Once you have selected a Catacombs from those listed in the table, take the Catacombs cards indicated and shuffle them to form a Catacombs Deck. The Event cards indicated should be chosen at random from those available.
Similarly, the chart also indicates the rank of the Enemies that will populate the Catacombs (see next paragraph).

Draft Deck

The Draft deck to be used in Catacombs is the one provided in this expansion. It contains an Undead version of all factions (and all corresponding models), which nevertheless retain their original faction.

The Enemy Draft Deck consists of all the Enemy Draft Cards of the Factions listed on the City Card. The Deck must be formed by consulting the Catacombs Composition Table (see below). Next to each variant of the Small, Medium, and Large Catacombs, the number of Enemy Cards to be included based on their Rank is listed.
For example, in Small Catacombs 3, all Enemy Troop Draft Cards from all Factions present in the Catacombs must be added (refer to the City Card to find out which factions are present), plus a single Elite-rank Enemy Draft Card chosen at random from among those of the Factions present in the Catacombs. Once the Enemy Draft Deck has been formed, it will represent the enemies you may face during this Expedition.

Lit and Dark Models

In the Catacombs Expansion, there are 2 conditions: Lit and Dark. A Model that is not within the range of a Torch or inside a Room with a Lit Brazier is considered to be "Dark." These 2 conditions are very important for both Heroes and Enemies. In fact, Heroes who begin their Activation In the Dark inside a Corridor must roll according to the chart corresponding to the Corridor Card and resolve the effects. Catacombs Enemies do not have to roll for Dark, but their cards have different profiles on both sides.

The Lit side is marked with ᛋ in the upper right corner, and shows the profile of the Enemy to be used when it is within the range of a Torch or Brazier. For more details, see the Enemy Cards section.

Please note: these rules also apply when playing the 3 Side Campaign Missions CT1, CT2, and CT3.

Catacombs Missions

Small Catacombs Mission
Lost in the Dark

- You may unlock this Mission only if the party has CT01 and CT02.

There is no trace of the exit. Not even the traces you left behind you.
The shadows of the Catacombs have closed behind you like silent jaws. The tunnels intertwine in a labyrinth without logic, made of stone, dampness, and unease.
Are you walking in circles? Or perhaps... is the place itself changing, sucking you deeper and deeper?
Worse still... you are not alone.
Your only salvation is an old torch, found by pure chance or perhaps abandoned by someone who... never made it out.
Its flame is weak. Flickering.
Its light creates more shadows than it dispels.
Every step you take, every wrong choice, every hesitation... the torch dims a little more.
Until you are left at the mercy of the darkness.
Until you are blind to what is moving around the corner.
Because in the Catacombs, darkness is not just the absence of light.
It is a predator.
And you... are its prey.

Mission Requirements

- The Catacombs has been fully explored (all Doorways have been placed).
- There are no Enemies in the Catacombs.

When the Requirements are met, perform this Setup:

- Remove all Catacombs Cards, Tiles, Hero Models, and Tokens from the Battlefield, but set aside the Starting Corridor Tile (CS0) and the Rope Token.
- Do not discard Tokens or Tokens of any kind from Hero Cards.
- Do not discard any Flame Tokens on the Horologium and do not move the Hero Activation Tokens.
- Take Tile A2 and place it in the Game Area, then place the Heroes on it.
- Form a new Catacombs Deck by randomly choosing 1 of the other 2 Small Catacombs available in the chart on page 19.
- Take 3 Doorways and continue the Mission.

Mission Rules

- Finding the rope again: After a Hero has placed the third Doorway on the Battlefield, do not draw a new Catacombs Card. Instead, attach it directly to the Starting Board (CS0). Place the Rope Token furthest away from the Hero who used the Cross the Threshold Action after resolving it.

Victory Conditions

- At least 3 Heroes exit the Catacombs before the time runs out.

Defeat Conditions

- 3 Heroes are KO.
- The time limit for the Mission runs out.

Victory

When the fire flickers for the last time, all that remains is a trembling glow. A breath of light, as subtle as a held breath. And yet, it's enough.
In that suspended moment, the darkness seems to hesitate. It does not disappear—no, darkness never surrenders—but it retreats, as if it recognizes something in you that it cannot extinguish: a stubborn will, an unshakeable faith, or perhaps just the desperation of someone who has nothing left to lose.
The tunnels around you, which until now seemed to bend into meaningless labyrinths, straighten out as if guided by an invisible design.
A passage opens where before there was only stone.
And at your feet, buried in dust and protected by ancient seals, you discover a small relic. It is engraved with forgotten symbols, which pulsate softly when touched by the light of the torch, as if awakening from a thousand-year slumber.
It's not just an object. It's a gift.
A fragment of Darkness itself, tamed but not defeated. A token left by something—or someone—who watches you in silence.
And now, watches you move forward.

- The party gains MC1, mark it in the corresponding slot on the Campaign Sheet.
- Loot: Whole
- The Small Catacombs Mission - Lost in the Dark cannot be played again.

Defeat

The torch goes out with a whisper, as if the flame itself had chosen silence. No roar, no tear; the darkness doesn't explode... it simply takes back what is its own.
It slides down the walls, descends on your faces, creeps into your thoughts. It envelops you without violence, like a cloak that smells of wet earth and lost time. It separates you from each other, isolates you.
Suddenly your steps become uncertain, you hold your breath. All that remains is to listen. Every drop that falls, every distant creak, every sound that is not your own.
In that dense and absolute silence, even your heart seems to beat faster, as if to challenge the darkness. But there is no challenge. Only waiting.
Then, after what seems like an eternity, the dim lights of the upper tunnels reappear. There is no triumph. No relief. Only the weight of what you leave behind.
Because something has followed you. Something has scrutinized your every move, your every hesitation, your every unspoken thought.
And even if the expedition has failed, even if you haven't found what you were looking for... something has happened.
The darkness now knows you.
It knows your voices, the rhythm of your breathing, the light in your eyes.
And it waits for you. Not with anger, not with haste... but with the millennial patience of that which does not forget.

- The Small Catacombs Mission - Lost in the Dark can be played again when selecting a Small Catacomb.

Medium Catacombs Mission
Guardian Spirit

- You may unlock this Mission only if the party has CT03 and CT04.

You crossed thresholds that should not have been opened.
You broke ancient chains, forced doors that time itself had forgotten.
You did it to survive. To move forward. To escape this labyrinth of stone and silence.
But every wall torn down, every boundary violated... came at a price.
Here, beneath the world, something watched, motionless.
Something that has existed since before legends began.
Something that does not truly sleep... but waits.
The Guardian Spirit is not a simple guardian.
It is the fierce will of the Catacombs.
It is their rage.
It is their protective instinct.
It has no fixed face. It has no form that the human mind can hold onto for too long.
Membranous wings that fold in the shadows.
A body that changes, twists, adapts.
A demonic being, neither man nor woman, but a perfect predator in this world of darkness.
You cannot fight it.
You cannot deceive it.
You can only flee.
Quickly. Silently.
Hoping that will be enough.

Mission Requirements

- The Catacombs have been fully explored (All Doorways have been placed).

When the Requirements are met, perform this Setup:

Defeat Conditions
- 3 Heroes are KO.
- A card must be drawn from the Stalking Shadow Deck, but you cannot do so.

Victory

Your breaths chase each other through the corridors, broken by fatigue, mixed with the beating of your hearts that still echo in your chests like war drums.
The echo of your footsteps slowly dissolves into the stone, swallowed by a silence that is no longer hostile, but attentive.
The creature... is no longer following you. No rustling, no moaning.
Perhaps it has retreated into the darkness from whence it emerged.
Perhaps it has accepted your escape as sufficient tribute.
Or perhaps it has simply let you go, not out of pity... but out of respect.
Only now do you truly understand.
It was not just a hunt. Not a simple defense of territory.
The Guardian Spirit was not protecting a passage: it was guarding a judgment.
It was not defending a secret... it was testing those who dared to challenge the will of the Catacombs.
And you, even in fear and flight, passed the test.
The darkness becomes less dense, as if it has stopped holding its breath. The walls tremble slightly, shaken by a quiver that is not an earthquake, but a sign.
A whisper in the stone. An answer.
Then, from a niche that was not there before—or perhaps was there but was not visible to you—an ancient artifact emerges.
Stone, bone, metal... or something you do not recognize. The engraved symbols glow slightly, pulsing as if alive.
It's a gift. Or perhaps a reward.
Not the spoils of the survivor, but the reward of the worthy.
Something that the Shadow has chosen to grant to those who have shown strength, heart... and respect.
You have not simply been spared. You have been recognized.
And now the passage is yours.

- The party gains MC2, mark it in the corresponding slot on the Campaign Sheet.
- Loot: Whole
- The Medium Catacomb Mission - Guardian Spirit cannot be played again.

Defeat

It wasn't an escape.
Not really.
It was a blind, desperate race against something you couldn't stop.
A race against the inevitable.
And you weren't fast enough.
The Spirit caught up with you. It overwhelmed you with its presence, knocked you down, brought you to your knees.
You felt its icy gaze, like a weight on the back of your neck. Its proximity was total, suffocating.
But it didn't destroy you.
It didn't annihilate you.
Because that wasn't its purpose.
Perhaps it was looking for something in your eyes.
Perhaps it just wanted to know who you really were.
Not invaders, not thieves... but fragile, exhausted beings who were still trying to resist.
And that, somehow, was enough for him.
When the flickering lights of the lanterns finally reappear, when the familiar stone of the catacombs stands out before you again, you realize you are still alive.
But something is not right.
Something inside you has changed.
Perhaps it is the fear that still grips your stomach, cold and persistent.
Perhaps it is the silence that now follows you everywhere, heavier than your footsteps.
Or perhaps it is the look: the same look that you now carry in your eyes.
That of someone who has glimpsed the abyss and has not forgotten it.
You have crossed a threshold that can no longer be closed.
Whatever price you paid, it has remained with you like an invisible scar.
You will carry it with you.
In your steps. In your breath. In your dreams.
And every time the darkness comes calling again... it will know that you have already answered.

- The party discards all Cards from the Loot.
- The Medium Catacomb Mission - Guardian Spirit can be played again when selecting a Medium Catacomb.

Large Catacombs Mission
The Ritual

- You may unlock this Mission only if the party has CT05 and CT06.

It was no accident.
It wasn't just survival.
Every step led you here.
Engraved in stone, traced on the floor, whispered through the silence of centuries...
You found signs.
Fragments of words.
Ancient symbols of forgotten knowledge.
Someone, long ago, left a message among these ruins.
A way out?
A call?
Or perhaps... a warning.
The braziers are not just for lighting up the darkness.
They are part of something greater.
A path. A design. A ritual.
Lighting them all is the only way to activate the power buried in the Catacombs.
But each flame is also a signal. A voice calling out to something that does not like to be distLocationd.
Only by completing the ritual can you summon the Lord of the Catacombs and face him.

Mission Requirements

- The Catacombs has been fully explored (All Doorways have been placed)
- There are no Enemies in the Catacombs.
- All Braziers in the Room are Lit

When the Requirements are met, perform this Setup:

- Take the following components:

1x Summoned Creature Profile Card [1] (The Ritual)

- The Abomination Model represents the Summoned Creature in this Mission.
- Reveal [1] The Ritual.

Victory Conditions

- The Summoned Creature is defeated.

Defeat Conditions

- 3 Heroes are KO.
- The time limit for the Mission runs out.

Victory

The last flame ignites, slowly but inexorably, as if responding to an ancient command forgotten by time.
The symbol engraved in the center of the room lights up, not with bright light... but with something deeper. A pulsating glow, dark and warm like blood beneath the skin.
Like a heart beating again after centuries of silence, awakened by your audacity.
Everything stops.
The silence is broken by a sound that is not a sound—a whisper in the stone, a call in the flesh.
And for a moment, the whole world seems to hold its breath.
The walls tremble, the shadows writhe.
Then, between the darkness and the uncertain light, the Lord of the Catacombs manifests himself.
He doesn't speak. He doesn't threaten.
He is presence. He is will.
And you don't back down
Not because you're not afraid... but because you know you can't fail.
The confrontation is brutal. The energies summoned shake the hall, the stone groans, the flames twist into unnatural spirals.
But in the end, the power consumes itself.
With a gasp, a final muffled roar, the summoning dies away.
The burning embers crumble into fine ash.
The air calms.
The ritual is complete.
But it was more than a call.
It was a judgment.
Someone—or something—observed every gesture, every word, every hesitation.
And decided.
In the silence that follows, among the dust and stones blackened by the clash, you see what was not there before: a residual fragment, intact.
A dark, ancient form, still pulsing with the power that has just been subdued.
A gift.
Or perhaps a curse.
A silent legacy, passed down without words.
You will never truly know what it means.
But now it belongs to you.
And it will accompany you.

- The party gains MC3, mark it in the corresponding slot on the Campaign Sheet.
- Loot: Whole
- The Large Catacomb Mission - The Ritual cannot be played again.

Defeat

The flames ignite... but something goes wrong.
They don't follow the expected order, they don't respond to the carefully studied gestures.
The design traced on the floor cracks and flickers, as if it had lost its connection with the world.
The outline wavers.
And what responds to the call is not what you hoped for.
It's not the expected presence, it's not the power to be questioned or contained.
It's something else.
It's distortion. Anger. Hunger.
The Lord of the Catacombs emerges nonetheless, but not as a judge or guardian.
The incomplete ritual has freed him without guidance, without purpose... without restraint.
He is unstable, ferocious, uncontrollable.
His body deforms, vibrates, explodes into fragments of shadow that tear through the air.
There is no confrontation. Only chaos.
You are overwhelmed.
The hall shatters. The braziers explode in showers of fire.
The walls crack, the corridors collapse behind you.
You are separated, forced to flee through unknown passages, amid dust and incandescent rubble.
Your breath burns, your hands tremble, every step is an unheard prayer.
When the silent shadows finally re-emerge—when surreal calm returns to the ruins—you are still alive.
But something has changed forever.
Failure is not just an absence.
It's a wound.
A mark that burns on your skin, but above all in your thoughts.
A void that you know will not be easily filled.
Power has escaped you.
And now it knows you are looking for it.
You will not be the first to find it.
It will be... it that comes looking for you.

- The party discards all Cards from the Loot.
- The Large Catacomb Mission - The Ritual can be played again when selecting a Large Catacomb.

Game Flow

1. Expansion Setup

- Keep all the materials included in the Catacombs Expansion (Catacombs Cards, Tiles, Tokens, 3D elements, Miniatures, Draft Cards, etc.) to hand.
- If you want to tackle the Catacombs Side Mission, add the "Into the Unknown" Event Card to your Event Card deck.

2. Rest Phase & City Card

- During the Rest Phase, take the City Card corresponding to the City or Village you are in.
- If the card indicates access to the Catacombs, you can decide whether to undertake the Expedition after visiting the shops in the City/Village you are in.

3. Catacombs Selection

- Choose the size of the Catacombs (Small, Medium, or Large) based on the City/Village map you are in, as well as the difficulty and time available (3/7/10 Horologium hours).
- Choose 1 of the Catacombs configurations from the chart on page 19, or you can randomly choose 1 of the 3 variants for each of the 3 sizes (S, M, and L).

4. Deck Composition

- Catacombs Deck: Use the chart on page 19 to assemble the Catacombs Deck.
- Enemies Draft Deck: Include the Draft cards of the factions indicated on the City Card, respecting the quantities of Enemy Cards for each Rank indicated in the chart on page 19. Not all enemy ranks will be available for all Catacombs sizes.

5. Starting Setup

- Place the Starting Tile (CS0).
- Place the Rope Token in a Square on the Starting Tile (CS0).
- Place the Hero Models on the Starting Tile (CS0) as you wish.
- Set the Horologium to a starting time chosen by the players.
- Keep the Torch Flame Tokens and the Brazier and Flame 3D Elements at hand.

6. Exploration

- Hero and Enemy Activations follow the normal rules of Nova Aetas Renaissance, but Heroes can also use the Cross the Threshold Action to place a Doorway and reveal a new Catacombs Card.
- If the revealed card is an Event, set it aside and draw a new card. Continue drawing until you reveal a Room or Corridor Card.
- If the card drawn is a Corridor or Room, the player takes the Tile with the same Code as the Catacombs Card drawn and places it in any orientation they prefer.
- If the Catacombs Card represents a Corridor, the Hero is placed in the Square of the new tile, as close as possible to the Doorway At this point, resolve any Events drawn before this Room, if there are any, after which the Hero can continue their Activation, first making a Darkness Roll, if necessary. At this point, resolve any Events drawn before this Corridor, after which the Hero can continue their Activation.
- If the Catacombs Card represents a Room, the Hero is placed in the Square on the new tile, as close as possible to the Doorway After that, proceed with the Enemy draft, placing the Enemy Models drawn in the spots indicated on the Catacombs Card. At this point, resolve all Events drawn before this Room, after which the Hero can continue their Activation.

Light and Darkness Management

- Models outside the range of a Torch or Brazier are considered In the Dark. A Hero in a corridor, while considered In the Dark, must always make a Darkness Roll and check the result on the Catacombs Corridor Card corresponding to the Corridor Tile where the Hero is. When an Enemy is In the Dark, for the purposes of any Test involving them, always consult the side of the Enemy Card without the symbol in the upper right corner. Enemies never have to make a Darkness Roll.
- All squares in a room with a Lit Brazier are considered Lit, as are any Heroes or Enemies located in a Square in that room. Please note, however, that even if the room is Lit, the Flame Token is discarded according to the normal rules of the Torch Card.

Doorway Placement

- Each time you use the Cross the Threshold Action, you place a Doorway.
- A Catacombs Card is revealed, and if it is a Room, Corridor, or Corridor Trap Card, its corresponding Tile is placed on the Game Area. If an Event Card is revealed, a new Catacombs Card is revealed until a Room, Corridor, or Corridor Trap Card is revealed.
- When all Doorways are positioned, the Catacombs is Fully Explored

Special Mission Conditions

- If it is the third expedition of that size and you have the required Achievement cards, you must play the specific Catacombs Mission (Small, Medium, or Large).

Leaving the Catacombs

- When you decide to retreat or the last Doorway is successfully placed, all Heroes can use the Escape Rope Action when adjacent to the Rope Token to escape from the Catacombs.
- Check which Victory or Defeat Condition applies and determine the Loot (see page 21).

Loot and Achievement

- If necessary, discard Treasure Cards randomly to balance the Loot you have obtained.
- If it is the first or second Expedition of that size to be successfully completed, take the corresponding Achievement Card (CT01–CT06).

Returning to the Campaign

- Any rewards (Achievement Cards or Mission Reward Cards) are marked on the Campaign Sheet.
- Perform a new Rest Phase in the City/Town where you are.
- After that, you can choose 1 of the following options:
  - ► Play the next Campaign Mission
  - ► Play an Active Side Mission (of any type)

Please note: It is not possible to play an Expedition after a Side Mission (of any kind).
