You have been contacted on behalf of King Ferdinand of Aragon: word of your exploits has reached Naples.
Recently, the Vesuvius region was struck by a violent earthquake, causing havoc in the local communities. As if that weren't enough, bandits are terrorizing the citizens with constant raids, robberies, and violence.
If it were a simple gang of criminals, there would be no need to call for your intervention, but these bandits are numerous and well-organized, able to evade and in some cases even overpower the local militia. Their presence has plunged the people into despair and has undermined the role of the authorities, who have been judged incapable of dealing with this disaster.
This is why the king turns to you, hoping that someone from outside the kingdom can look at the problem with a fresh perspective and find a solution. And who better than a group of seasoned heroes like you?
You decide to seize the opportunity to make another ally on the peninsula, and set out with what little information you have gathered about the bandits—your search must be discreet to avoid backlash, and you must focus on the slopes of Mount Somma, the mountain complex that is home to Mount Vesuvius. The criminals operate under a kind of banner, the emblem of a scarred eye...

How to use this expansion

The Vesuvius expansion adds a new campaign that is best played after completing the Core Nova Aetas Renaissance Campaign. You can continue to use the Heroes you completed the main Campaign with, or, if you wish, you can create new Heroes to play the Campaign with (see the Skipping the Past section below).

To play the Vesuvius Campaign, you will need many components of the Core Game in addition to the materials included in this expansion. These are listed as usual in the Mission Cards and Plotbook sections.

This rulebook list all of the new rules and components introduced by this expansion.

Skipping the Past

You can start a new campaign directly from the Vesuvius Expansion with new Heroes, without having to play (or replay) the League of Cambrais campaign from the Nova Aetas Renaissance Core Game.
If you choose to do so, follow these rules. Create four new Heroes following the rules of the Core Game. Each Hero can thus spend up to 13 Experience Points. You can spend these to purchase Skills and acquire an Advanced Class, always keeping in mind any character development restrictions such as Skills prerequisites or having to choose at least 3 Basic Skills before you can choose an Advanced Class for the character (see the Campaign section of the Rulebook).

To equip the party, you have at your disposal a common pool of 110 Florins to be used to purchase Reagents and create Formulae Equipment Cards. In addition, 2 Heroes of the players' choice may, provided they have acquired an Advanced Class, read all of their Destiny Cards and related paragraphs of the Plotbook, and receive both the Bound Advanced Equipment Card and the Advanced Equipment Card normally given as a reward for resolving the fourth Destiny Card. The remaining Heroes, again only if they have acquired an Advanced Class, may read the Destiny Cards of their Basic Class and the first Destiny Card of the chosen Advanced Class, which must be resolved while playing. As per the rules, these Heroes receive the Bound Advanced Equipment of the chosen Advanced Class.

New Rules

Asphyxiation

During missions, some effects may cause Heroes to gain Asphyxiation Tokens.
These Tokens have no immediate effect, but if a Hero has 5 Asphyxiation Tokens at any time, they will become Exhausted. A Hero cannot have more than 5 Asphyxiation Tokens.
As long as a Hero is Exhausted they can only spend ⧗ to perform the Wait Action, and cannot perform any Tests. An Exhausted Hero can be chosen as a target by Enemies and suffer Attacks, but they cannot perform Defense Tests (they thus suffer all the hits of the Attack), they can, however, distribute the 💔 they suffer on their Equipment with the Resistance X trait.
When an effect allows an Exhausted Hero to discard Asphyxiation Tokens, they cease to be Exhausted.
When a Hero is KO'd they discard all the Asphyxiation Tokens they have.
Missions in which this rule is used show a new clue symbol on the back of [0]:

Goatskin

The Goatskin is a special Equipment card. It has a slot for 2 Water Tokens, one for each of its possible uses. At the beginning of a Mission place a Water Token in each slot of the Goatskins equipped by the Heroes. Whenever a Hero uses the effect of an equipped Goatskin, they discard a Water Token from it. At the end of the Mission, if no Water Tokens are present on the Goatskin card, the card is discarded and placed back in the Formulae Card Deck; it may be reacquired during a Rest Phase. If, on the other hand, at least one Water Token is still present, the Goatskin remains in the Inventory and can be used in the next Missions (it will revert to having 2 Water Tokens even if only one was left).
Note: As indicated on the card, a Hero who uses the effect of a Goatskin increases their ☪ by 1.

New Skills and Traits

Asphyxiate X

Upon completion of this Enemy's Activation, all Heroes adjacent to them gain X Asphyxiation Tokens (see Asphyxiation rules on the previous page).

Sweep

After the target has performed the Defense Test and resolved the effects of this Attack, all other Heroes adjacent to the attacking Enemy suffer the Attack.

New Tokens

Neutrals

Asphyxiation

Heroes can gain and discard these Tokens through certain game effects. These tokens are not considered either Status Tokens or 💔 Tokens (see the rules on Asphyxiation above).

Water

At the beginning of the Mission, Heroes gain 1 Water Token for each slot of their Goatskin Cards. They are considered Neutral Tokens and are not removed if the Hero is KO'd.

New Cards

Landscape Cards

The Vesuvius Expansion introduces a new type of Mission Cards, called Landscape. These cards function similarly to the Location Cards of the Core Game, but are tied to a specific Tile. When you reveal a Landscape card, place it next to the indicated Tile.
Landscape Cards depict the landscape a Hero has in front of them and one or more Scenic Elements present on the Tile it is linked to.
Unlike with Location Cards, Heroes cannot be placed on Landscape Cards—you can interact with a Landscape Card from anywhere on the linked Tile.
The Interactions of a Landscape Card normally cost 0⧗ since the Hero is simply looking at their surroundings. Further explanation in the Plotbook will indicate how you can interact with the illustrated Scenic Elements.

Landscape Cards can provide useful clues to the mission at hand, so we advise you to pay close attention to the elements illustrated on them.

Viewpoint Tokens

Viewpoints are Tokens linked to Mission Actions that allow the corresponding Landscape Card to be revealed.

New Equipment Cards

This Expansion introduces new Equipment Cards. You can also add these cards to the "League of Cambrai" Campaign of the Core Game and to the Campaigns of other Expansions.
The 4 Master Peio's Creation Equipment Cards represent valuable creations of the famous Blacksmith available in the Italian markets—they cannot be crafted in the Craftsman's Shop, but must be purchased in the Market Shop.
The 10 Formulae Equipment Cards (including the 6 Goatskin cards) are entirely similar to those in the Core Game and can be crafted by visiting the Artisan's Shop as usual.

Reagent Cards: Lava Lapis

Some Enemies in the Vesuvius Expansion add a Reagent Card type to the loot—the Lava Lapis cards. These cards work like regular Reagent Cards and can add Lava Slivers to the Heroes' Treasury when revealed. Two of these Reagent Cards represent Unstable Slivers—these slivers negatively affect the Lava Slivers, draining their power. Whenever one or more Unstable Slivers are revealed in the Loot, calculate their total value and subtract as many Lava Slivers from the Loot itself. The Unstable Slivers do not affect the Lavic Slivers in the Treasury.

New Scenic Elements

Destroyed Buildings

Destroyed Buildings are made up of two types of walls, Complete and Crumbling walls.
Complete walls are tall, also connected by a roof section. It is not possible to cross them during movement and they follow the Blocking rule.
Crumbling walls have a medium height and follow the Impassable rule.

Impassable: an Impassable Scenic Element does not block the Line of Sight, if a Attack passes through an Impassable Scenic Element and has as its target a Model in a Square adjacent to that Scenic Element, apply the following effects:

- Attack against an Enemy: the attacking Hero must roll 1 which resulted in a .
- Attack against a Hero: the target Hero gains 1 during the Defense Test.

4x2 Destroyed Building

This 3D Scenic Element represents a destroyed ancient building and has the following special rules:

- Blocking (Complete Walls)
- Impassable (Crumbling Walls)

3x3 Destroyed Building

This 3D Scenic Element represents a destroyed ancient building and has the following special rules:

- Blocking (Complete Walls
- Impassable (Crumbling Walls)

The Giglio

This 3D Scenic Element has the following Special Rules:

- Blocking
- Towering
- Bulky

In addition, it is possible to go up the Giglio Board which is located at a Height Level 2. A Model on the Giglio Board follows the normal rules of the Height Levels, with the only exception that when the Giglio moves, the Model moves with it, staying in the square it is in.

Obelisk

This 3D Scenic Element has the following Special Rules:

- Blocking
- Bulky
- Towering
- Interactive

Forge

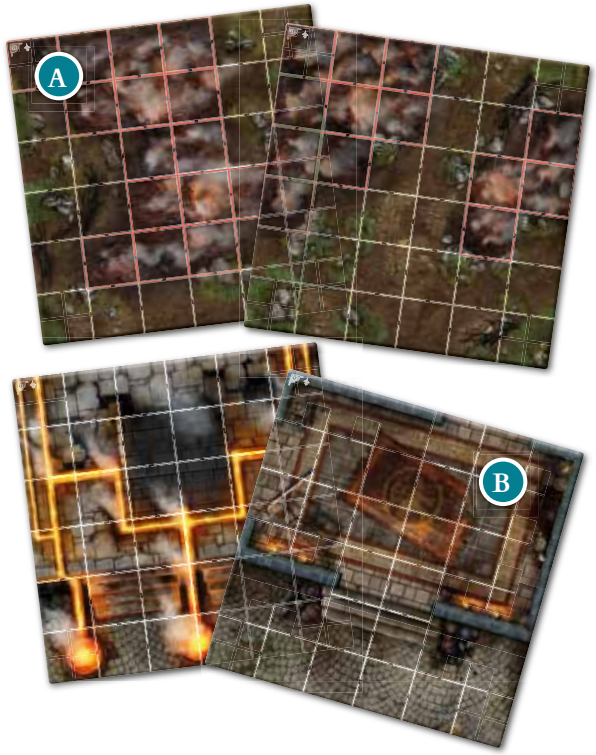

This Scenic Element has the following special rules:

- Bulky
- Blocking
- Interactive

New Tiles: Lava Ground/Forge

The 2 new Tiles introduced by this Expansion show on one side the Lava Terrain (1F and 2F) A and on the other the inside of the Forge (3F and 4F) B. Both sides provide new Special Rules

These Tiles represent particular environments in the Vesuvius's Forge expansion. In the Mission cards these Tiles show an arrow to indicate how they should be oriented when building the Battlefield.

Lava Terrain Tiles: Volcanic Fumes

Volcanic fumes harmful to Heroes are present in some of the Squares of these Tiles. A Hero who ends their Activation in one of these Squares, highlighted by a red border, gains an Asphyxiation Token.

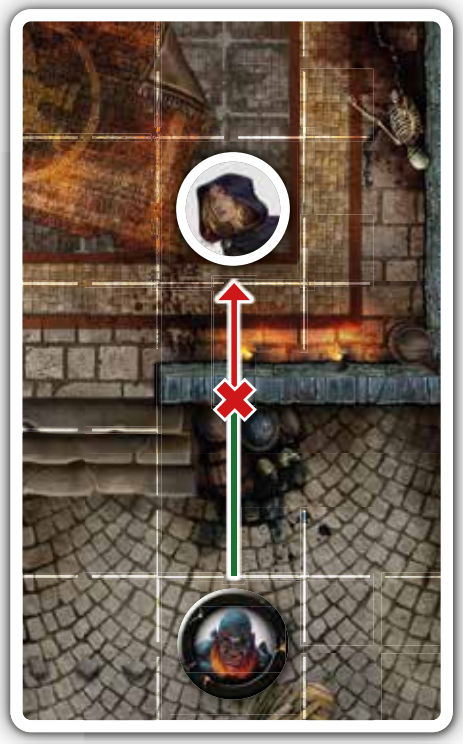

Missions in which these Tiles are used show a new clue symbol on the back of 0:

Walls (Black Border)

Forge Tiles represent the interior of certain areas of Vesuvius's Forge campaign. These Tiles introduce the "walls".

These Squares have one or more sides occupied by Stone Walls. The Walls are artistically represented and highlighted by a black border. Walls block the Line of Sight and cannot be crossed by any Model.

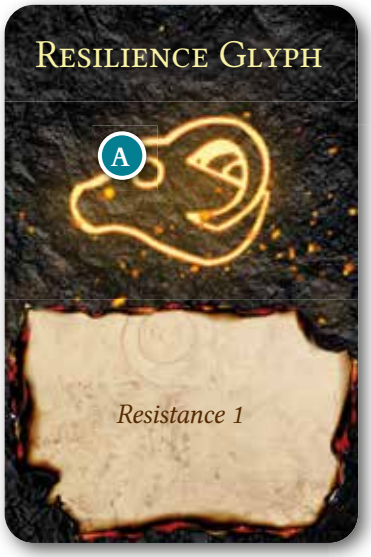

Master Peio

No one knows his real name, but this particular character calls himself Master Peio.
Only three things are known about him—he is a very skilled forger, he always carries excellent equipment to sell, and he is from Resina, although he loves to travel around the Peninsula, frequenting the markets between Florence and Naples in search of new ideas and opportunities.
Some Missions in this Expansion will give the opportunity to "Access the services of Master Peio" during a Rest Phase. This option is listed in the End of Mission directions.
Accessing the services of Master Peio counts as visiting a Shop. Master Peio can create Master Peio's Glyph Cards and Formulae Equipment Cards. These are also marked with the symbol on the front. Many of these cards also require the new Lava Sliver Reagent to be created.

Equipment and Glyph Cards

Once created, Master Peio's Formulae Equipment Cards can be upgraded by associating one or more Glyph Cards with them.
Glyph Cards can be created by accessing the services of Master Peio like a regular Formulae Card. The illustration of Glyph Cards shows the symbol that represents them A.

Glyph Cards can be associated with a Master Peio Formulae Equipment Card that shows the corresponding symbol at its bottom B.
Master Peio's Formulae Equipment Cards also carry a number of slots available for Glyph Cards. C.

For each of the slots indicated on a card, one of the Glyph Cards indicated by the symbols at the bottom can be associated with it. It is not possible to associate two identical Glyph Cards with the same Equipment Card.

Once associated with an Equipment Card, a Glyph is permanently bound to it. You cannot move a Glyph to another Equipment Card or replace one Glyph with another. You will therefore have to choose carefully how you use your Glyphs!

Glyphs follow these rules:

- An Equipment Card gains all the effects and skills described by the Glyph Cards associated with it. Additional effects are to be considered as if they were written directly on the Equipment Card.
- For the order of resolution of the Effects after the ⚡ symbol, Effects given by a Glyph Card should always be resolved after those on the Equipment Card. In case several Effects given by Glyph Cards are to be resolved, the player can decide the order of resolution (but always after resolving the Effects on the Equipment Card).
- The Critical 2 Trait provided by a Glyph card replaces the normal Critical 1 included in all ● Physical Attacks.
- The Resistance 1 Trait provided by a Glyph card is added to the Resistance value the Equipment already has.
- the Effect +1✣ provided by a Glyph Card increases by 1 the maximum distance at which the Attack can be performed.
